

Charlie's Three Angels

by Michael Tam

I have been friends with Charlie for a decade. There are many romance stories we had shared. Actually, there are 3 angels always get along with him. Who are they?

1. Intelligence

Being a college graduate from Hamilton College and post-college graduate from Columbia University, nobody will challenge his intelligence. He is smart, hardworking and has a wide scope of knowledge. He learns fast to pick up new knowledge as he changes his career from the field of engineering into computer.

2. Love

Charlie is a great lover. He contributes his time, his effort and his heart to help all his family members both of Hong Kong and New York. He sacrifices his time to help his friends. He loves to try new ideas. He loves music. He loves to educate and entertain children and teens. His loves and concerns to the world always cover up his worries and stresses.

3. Courage

Charlie likes adventures. With courage, he put in big investment into new businesses. He was once a salesperson, a manager, a merchant in auto parts industry and now a landlord in Philadelphia. He is currently still an instructor of a Self Fulfillment Course and he is comfortable to give public speech. He dares to sing in front of big audience.

By keeping these three angels, I know he is going to be very success in the new “playground” (Hong Kong). Good luck to him and good news will soon be back to us.
